Super C Season: The Official Guide

'They say the weather's 'bout to change...'

The hip-hop climate has been stable and predictable over the last few years, with some mild precipitation every now and again. Well, the weather's about to change. What's the forecast? A raging Storm, the likes of which has never been witnessed, is imminent and the weatherman predicts that it will rock the music landscape to its very core.

'Look up in the sky, it's a bird, it's a plane/No! It's Super C and the levels done changed!'

Yes indeed! Following the release of his seminal debut, You Know My P, Naeto C is back like he left something! This time around, however, he is donning the cloak of invincibility as Super C to usher in the climate-altering Super C Season. Grab your umbrellas, raincoats, wellingtons, sunscreen, parkas, ear muffs, wind breakers and all condition gear for the ride of your life. Super C Season is music. It's a movie. It's life. It's here! Don't forget your 3D glasses.

1. Super C Season

The urgency of the chords on Sarz's album-opening title track alerts you to the fact that you're about to witness something epic. "Super C Season" is so unapologetically brash ('...it's Super C Season/I stay dressed up for no reason/my head got big and it's even touching the ceiling') that it clearly outlines who is still sitting on top ('...I do the things that these other rappers lie about/yeah, I brought my blueprint design out/so they can go through the pages like a TimeOut'). Listening to it, you get that spine tingling feeling down your back – good for music lovers, bad for any opposition. And in case you still don't know the P, its progenitor has issued 'an invite to find out.'

2. True (Dem No Fit Do Am) featuring Omawumi

'Omo, the way the jam dey pepper dem/ain't no need to shepe dem/Better than the rest of them!'

On Super C Season, you'll agree it's "True (Dem No Fit Do Am)" like Naeto C. Nigeria's musical Wonder Woman, Omawumi totally agrees as she laces her signature vocals on the Dokta Frabz produced track, one of four soundscapes the 'Nsayne boss contributes to this effort. The opening declaration, 'I'm Naeto Super C, swagger they can't supersede at all/I don't "pen and paper" raps, I just recite what I record/shey mo bad?' puts it all in perspective. They do what they do but 'dem no fit do am like me' is the clear message separating Naeto from whomever supposedly comes close and it's true! 'This is easy man, I rarely have to try/what's a chicken to an eagle when they rarely ever fly?' Nuff said!

3. Ako Mi ti Poju (Extended Mix) featuring Dagrin

'I give the chills like malaria/king of my area...'

It's too much... three much... four much... five much this Super C Season, so it's only natural that "Ako Mi ti Poju." Like it wasn't enough of a monsoon on its own, the award-winning single has reached beyond the grave to call upon the evergreen Dagrin to spit pure heat over the 'Nsayne Dokta's otherworldly percussion. With Super C and Akogun sharing the same airspace, braggadocio never sounded better. True talk!

4. Carry Your Shoulder

'Remember you go form for them before they form for you...'

Super C is universal and the universal symbol for disinterest is a simple shrug, so Naeto urges you to "Carry Your Shoulder" for all detractors and naysayers. There's a lot of talk that never gets backed up and this song blows winds of change to expose the lack of authenticity that abounds in music, primarily, and life in general. 'Why they copying the way that I rap? /It's a shame that they claim it's authentic at that/ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-ha-how?' The Cerious Music pairing of Naeto and TY Mix has done it again with an infectious track that will make you consciously or subconsciously "Carry Your Shoulder" and boogie. However, don't be fooled or carried away by the groove of this one because Naeto really ain't playing: 'Bomboy carry shoulder for me? In this world or the next? That's the question/answer doesn't exist, don't even suggest it/dem no born am well, make e try!' Don't say we didn't warn you.

5. Ride Tonite featuring So Sick

'Ever since we started talkin', she been blowin' my mind...'

Super C Season presents the perfect weather for a ride on the town, so why not get that special someone and "Ride Tonite"? This So Sick collaboration touches on the age old tale of infatuation and trying to make things work regardless of 'what your daddy say/it doesn't matter what your mommy do/we got something they can't separate/don't let the drama get to you.' Every superhero has his vulnerable moments, so don't hate, appreciate.

6. Skimpololo featuring Terry G & YQ

'Them other boys' swag shorter than my nephews...'

The unpredictable weather of Super C Season brings a tornado through your speakers as the unlikely union of Naeto C and Terry G is bound to leave all gob smacked. The high-octane energy of Terry G unfurls the smooth talk of Super C, which would more than likely make the subject "Skimpololo" his way. YQ also helps to smooth it out, balancing the wild and the mild for this musical brainchild. The naughty guy in Naeto is screaming "Free me noooooow!" all over this song.

7. Duro featuring YQ

'Few more drinks and I'll be sounding like a genius...'

As things are moving by kinda fast, it's time to "Duro" for a quick second. Why? Because, judging by the last few songs, the girls are driving Super C crazy and deserve to be with a guy that's fly like him. Clearly, Super C is a season of love just as it is one for checking the haters. Once again, YQ is on deck to serenade the ladies as Naeto lyrically sweeps them off their feet: 'I should make you first lady of my campaign.' You should already know the P.

8. Afruru'm Gi Nanya (I Luv U) featuring Waje

'Love is the greatest gift of all...'

Love is definitely in the air when Waje appears. She joins Naeto as they take it back to the roots to declare to the world (and the one) that "Afruru'm Gi Nanya (I Luv U)." Love is the ultimate high and TY Mix brings its sound to life on this highlife journey of melody. It makes you want to grab that fine woman, a jug of palm wine and get lost in the music. Nothing beats some good ol' home cooking. This is the perfect serving.

9. 5 and 6

'With you by my side, there's nothing that I can't do...'

Timeless. That is the word that best describes the couple-celebrating "5 and 6." While Naeto refers to a romantic love interest on this song, its message goes way beyond the romantic. It just speaks of the perfect bond that cannot be broken; be it a parent and child, a fan and her favourite band, an F1 driver and his car or even a farmer and his cutlass. More than a love song, it is a happy feeling. This is a smile inducing, party starting, family friendly ditty that will easily appeal to the octogenarian as it would the toddler. 'Anything I wear she kidnaps from my t-shirts to my boxer shorts...' Now that's love right there. Try separating "5 and 6." Exactly!

10. Ten over Ten

'The only MC with an MSc...'

'Things are not the same... No... things are not the same as before... No... things are not the same... No... things are not the same as before! Levels done change now, they no fit hold me again, now I'm "Ten over Ten" ... levels done change now, so they no fit hold me again, 'cause I'm "Ten over Ten"... now I'm "Ten over Ten"... "Ten over Ten"... "Ten over Ten"... shikena!'

11. Déjà vu (Our Drinks)

'Here we are again...'

Ever tried to keep it moving but something keeps pulling you back? Is everything around you strangely familiar? You've been here before. In this very space. Like a scratched CD repeating the same word over and over again. This is "Déjà vu (Our Drinks)." In case you don't remember, a super soulful sample from Ikon, a somber flow from Naeto C and deeply emotional background vocals from Omawumi and Dokta Frabz with forever jog your memory.

12. Share My Blessings featuring Asa

'All white caftan like the stripe on a Tom Tom...'

When the queen of soul and king of rap get together, there is only one thing to do... "Share My Blessings." The coming together of Naeto C and Asa is a victory for world music and anybody that is living with one struggle or the other. The deeply personal song depicts an honesty that is usually concealed in hip-hop and serves as an inspiration to let 'this little light of mine shine' because 'it's moving over me, it's taking over me.' Take time out to show the ones you love how much you really do because no one knows tomorrow as Naeto found out when, 'First day of the year, my best friend died in a car crash/couple months before that, I survived in a car crash/now that's the irony of life/...so dear friend, let me give you an advice/keep your loved ones close 'cause they won't live twice/I should have told her how I felt...' When Heaven puts a hand on you, share your blessings.

13. Voodoo

'Story land, story land, once upon a time...'

The world is full of smokescreens and mirrors. Some hide behind the smoke, while others despise the reflection. This lack of confidence, dishonesty and self loathing cause them to knowingly or unknowingly attack others. Superhero status, unfortunately, does not exclude you from such treatment as even for Super C,

'sometimes e be like say someone dey somewhere dey juju me, because I dey do some things wey be say I no suppose dey do at all!' He takes a journey within himself to check the fake from the real and search for answers. Being in the public eye brings unwanted attention and it's like you need x-ray vision to see through the lies. 'Now I'm dealing with more fakeness than Darling Yakin/losing my morals over quarrels/they don't wanna see this picture that I'm drawing like Corel/my friend told me fake love even worse than hate.' Sometimes, all the negative energy makes you feel like there must be a "Voodoo" curse in the air or something.

14. C Me Finish

'Is that how it's supposed to be?'

"C Me Finish" is the end of the album but not the end of Super C... not by a long shot! And that is what this song addresses, the blind hope by some that Naeto C has fallen off or is on his way down. Instead, Super C puffs his chest out and boldly declares that, 'them no go see me finish, lai lai!' This song encourages you to celebrate, appreciate and obliterate the hate; however, if you choose to ignore the latter, it's your head on a platter. 'We should toast to the fact that people doubt us/'cause to be honest, it brought the best out us/...I did the math, we do better when they surround us/even though their brain the same size as a groundnut.' He once famously said it himself, 'I tried but no more Mr. Nice Guy!' So Naeto C will be waiting at the finish line where he will C U finish!

BONUS:

Ride with Me featuring Sway & Lukie D

'Fly Nigerian, Flygerian/with an ego too big for your criterion...'

Right on cue to reassure you that he's definitely not done, the weatherman drops some bonus heat. Leading the incoming Storm front is a cool breeze from the UK, via the gold coast, in the form of British-born Ghanaian, Sway, hopping in the whip with Naeto C, honoring an invitation to "Ride with Me." This is pure rider music featuring two lyrical savants trading bars over a bounce-inducing beat. This is a sun-out, top-down, stunners-on, clutch-popped banger for you and your peoples to roll to. Got a boat? This is what you ride the waves to. Trust us. Now let it ride.

Ex-Girlfriend featuring Dokta Frabz

'His old girl was too loose, bad screws...'

The hardest thing about being the new guy/girl is being judged by the standards of the previous guy/girl, which had absolutely nothing to do with you. The climes of Super C Season change without warning, further evidenced by the sudden rise in temperature when discussing the "Ex-Girlfriend." The mellow groove addresses the potential pitfalls of a new relationship with the previous union still visible in the rearview mirror. It is a situation most can relate with but Naeto introspectively and creatively brings it to the fore. While Naeto raps, 'I'm never fully dressed without a smile, so I say cheese/why should another person's side piece be my main squeeze?' Dokta Frabz pleads, 'Girl I dey beg you, make you no treat me like my Ex-Girlfriend!'

Gidi is Mine

'This particular transmission is live from my Republic...'

Like a true superhero, Super C ends this particular adventure flying high above his city, taking it all in. The bold, unwavering declaration is that "Gidi is Mine." After unleashing the P and fading to the back to study for a Masters Degree, he's back to take what's rightful his... that spot at the very top. 'Just in case you didn't know, I done covered the globe before I made up my mind/sat back and observed before I gave you that the word that the city is mine/there ain't nothing to share, you can talk in my ear, all I'm hearing is lies/so I'mma say it again, we don't have to be friends 'cause Gidi is Mine!' After navigating through Super C Season, I'm sure you'll agree.

When all is said and done, Super C Season is so crazy that you may need to listen in a bunker to survive it! It has enough whip appeal for your ride but also ample warmth for your living room. And don't forget the clubs where the response is sure to lead to an uncontrollable outbreak of Super C fever.

Whether you're chilling in Toronto, coasting in LA, lounging in Lagos, sipping tea in London, splurging in Abu Dhabi or riding the big kahuna down under, Super C Season has something for you.

But more than anything else, Super C Season will open your eyes to realizing that there is a hero inside every one of us, all you need is drive and belief, like Naeto has skillfully exhibited. Music might not be your calling but if you pay enough attention, you will definitely hear the sound of your destiny.

So don that cloak of invincibility, for this is Super C Season and we stay dressed up for no reason.
